Cs 360 Module Three Assignment
7-20-24

Even though this assignment was pretty simple I did run into some problems. When I was trying to open up android studios I could not find it in brightspace, I thought there would be some link or something like visual studio. Then I went to the app store and there was not an app for it either so I checked to see if there was a site for it as well. Then, I went to the resources section and the first link I clicked on did not work so I tried with the second link and it ended up downloading. Then for the next part I had trouble with editing the existing activity_main.xml file because I couldn't find it. Creating a new layout with a button, a TextView, and a plain text was confusing too because the instructions were not clear and could have been more descriptive. Then, as I started to configure my code my computer started running slow and even as i am typing this for my experience and challenges section my computer still is running slower. Overall, everything was really time consuming and frustrating but hopefully it will get easier in the future.
